

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Methods for the simultaneous or sequential analysis and quantification of a plurality of antiretroviral analytes in a complex biological matrix by mass spectrometry are disclosed. The methods require minimal sample size, minimal preparation time and allow for rapid through-put. The system is particularly useful in therapeutic drug monitoring.